“This really works!”

Reviewed in the United States on May 14, 2024

“This should be a staple in everyone’s self-care routine. A little goes a long way. It dissolves into the skin. It’s not lumpy. No odor. I use it in hair and as lip moisturizer as well. I highly recommend this product”.

“The Okere Shea Butter is an excellent product that can easily be used to moisturize dry skin. As I have been battling a dry and irritated scalp for quite some time, I found this product to effectively relieve the itchiness. All I have to do is section off my hair and massage it onto my scalp to experience its soothing effects. This product also works well as a lip balm!”

“Impressive Natural Shea Butter”

Reviewed in the United States on January 8, 2024

“I recently purchased natural Okere Shea butter, a product of Uganda-Africa, and I must say, I am highly impressed with the quality of the product. The quality is evident in its rich texture and natural aroma, reflecting the true essence of this African treasure. I highly recommend it to anyone seeking soft and glowing skin”.

“Incredible shea butter”

Reviewed in the United States on December 30, 2023

“When I applied it to my lips and hands, I could immediately feel my skin becoming moisturized. Above all, because it is a natural, organic product, I was able to use it with confidence even though I have sensitive skin”.

“Highly recommend. This is great shea butter --- much softer than most. It lasts a long time, is great for dry skin of all types. Worth the price! And you are supporting those in Uganda who hand make it”.

“Absolutely Divine!”

“I work in an industrial sandpaper factory and to keep my hands soft and healthy requires some heavy-duty moisturizer. This stuff is the best. Also, it smells so fresh and lovely! If you’re looking for a premium moisturizer made with love, look no further, you’ve found it! Included in my package was a lovely note from Ojok, a member of the Okere Shea Cooperative Society, I wish you and all the other members wellness, prosperity, and the best of luck on your project! You make a fantastic product!”

“Amazing product and seller”

Reviewed in the United States on April 24, 2024

“The shea butter is so soft and is perfect for the lotion I make, I had to purchase another, and I will keep purchasing. The seller was great too, responded when I had a little issue with my first order. Don’t think twice guys, just get it”.

“Very Natural”

Reviewed in the United States on January 8, 2024

I bought this product for my wife. She used first time shea butter in her life, one of my friends recommended me to use it but before I have watched a documentary about how local women of Uganda's are producing this product. It is incredible, there is a significant effort to prepare this shea butter. When she used it, she didn't expect this much but first it melted by her skin immediately and after that it softened her hands very well. So, we recommend this product highly!

“Amazing shea butter”

Reviewed in the United States on January 26, 2024

I absolutely love using shea butter as my go-to body lotion, especially during the chilly winter months. It does wonders to keep my skin well-hydrated and incredibly soft. However, I've often struggled with other shea butter products being too hard, making the application a bit of a challenge. That's where Okere Shea Butter stands out. First and foremost, Okere Shea Butter is impressively soft and incredibly easy to apply. Its luxurious texture glides effortlessly over my skin, ensuring a smooth and hassle-free experience. I also appreciate the subtle and delightful scent that accompanies this product. It's not overpowering, which I find perfect for daily use. What truly sets this shea butter apart is the meaningful impact it makes. Knowing that it supports a community in Uganda and contributes to sustainable forest management adds an extra layer of satisfaction to using this product. It's more than just a skincare choice; it's a responsible and compassionate one. Okere Shea Butter has become my top choice for keeping my skin nourished and soft. Its ease of application, pleasant scent, and commitment to sustainability make it an outstanding product in every sense. It's not just an amazing product; it's a conscious and impactful choice

“Usually when you color your hair, it weakens and breaks. But ever since I started using Okere Shea Butter, my hair hasn’t been breaking. It has rather grown thick and long.”

AWEKO FAITH

“After just a month of using Okere Shea butter, I must confess I see a change in how the comb glides through my hair. My hair is more manageable and there is a unique kind of shine.”
